INFLUENZA GERM DISCOVERED BY CHICAGO DOCTOR

Important Discovery Is Modestly Announced By Young Teacher

KILLED 20,000,000
Chicago, Dec. 13.—(UP)—Twenty million persons died in the influenza epidemic of 1918, according to Dr. E. O. Jordan, head of the Department of Bacteriology of the University of Chicago. Dr. Jordan made his estimate recently in an address before the American Public Health Association.

"This," he said, "is incomparably the worst catastrophe of the sort that has visited the race since the black death of the middle ages."

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(UP)—As a Christmas gift to the world six arduous years in the making, a modest young University of Chicago Professor announces the discovery and isolation of the influenza germ, with promise of a hopeful prospect for an antidote that will stem the scourge.

Sixty students assembled in a cluttered, acid stained room in Rockefeller Laboratory last night heard the momentous announcement, from the lips of Dr. Isidore S. Falk, 30-year-old professor of hygiene and bacteriology.

He referred to the germ as of the pleomorphic streptococcus type and said it looks "like a microscopic chain of unmatched beads which a child has strung together."

Simply, as if announcing details of a new lecture course, the tall, dark-haired young scientist told his listeners about the germ and how it was discovered, giving much of the credit to his assistants. There was nothing in his manner to indicate he was becoming, as he spoke, a conspicuous world figure and an outstanding candidate for the next Nobel prize.

Hope For Vaccine
"We are hoping," he said, "that a vaccine prepared from dead microbes of the influenza germ can be absorbed through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat and thus effect a cure."

With 14 members of the biological department to aid him, Dr. Falk toiled during the epidemic a year ago, working 16 hours or more a day. The corps of scientists "mobilized" on Dec. 12, 1928, to concentrate every effort toward carrying to successful fruition the five years of research their leader had devoted since his graduation from Yale.

An alarm clock, its gong set to ring every half hour, was on Dr. Falk's laboratory table. One in that way could keep his eyes open and continue the quest, so heavily did the strain weigh upon him.

"We could not know," he said whimsically, "when another epidemic would be vouchsafed us and of course our work was possible in that scope only in time of epidemic."

125 Monkeys Assisted
A troop of Rhesus monkeys, 125 in all, unwittingly contributed invaluable assistance in discovering the germ that had claimed thousands of lives among the human brothers. Various strains of germs were kept alive in the blood streams of the Simians, available for withdrawal for further microscopic examination.

Coincidentally, it was on Christmas Day last year that the first "suspect" germ was isolated. Even then more than 3,000 different microbes had been studied. By a gradual process of elimination, that host was reduced to eight general types, and then to an individual germ.

The germ, which later was proved responsible for influenza, was taken from the blood of Miss R. A. McKimsey, one of the assistants who complained of feeling ill at midnight after a strenuous day.

Time after time, Dr. Falk's loyal assistants contracted the disease during the year of intensive research, despite greatest sanitary precautions. None complained. If able to be up, they carried on, sleeping on desks to avoid loss of a minute.

Dr. Falk joined the University of Chicago faculty after graduation from Yale in 1923 with a Ph. D. degree. He is married and has two sons. His family home was in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PHOTOGRAPHS HEART
Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The human heart has been exhibited as its own photographer at a demonstration of a new X-ray device at the Franklin Institute.

The device was invented by Charles T. Weyl, assistant professor of the Moore School of Electrical Engineering, University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Maurice McPhedran, Roentgenologist of the Harry Phipps Institute collaborated with him in its perfection.

By an elaborate system of electrical connections, percussion instruments, mirrors, fans and electric lights, the heart is made to take pictures of itself and the lung cavity any point in their cycle of movement.

Friday Was Not Always Held To Be Unlucky Day

Friday the 13th unlucky? The superstition is older than Christianity but at one time it was said to have been lucky.

Superstition gave Friday a crown early in the history of events because it was named for Freya, a mythological goddess of love who worshipped in Scandinavian folk lore until disaster transferred the date to one of ill omen by the crucifixion of Christ.

At the last supper Christ and his disciples made the table. That is said to have been the origin of the superstition that thirteen is unlucky as soon after this betrayal and crucifixion occurred and fixed forever a prejudice against thirteen and Friday. Thirteen has been known as "Hangman Day" throughout the centuries.

The reputation of thirteen as a number has not always been so bad however, and the figure 13 was a symbol of good omen ago. In the temple of ancient Mayan and Aztec races archaeologists find the symbol of 13 on hammered gold and other precious metals. The figure was also used to decorate pottery and temples were built with thirteen windows, thirteen doors and thirteen columns.

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 13.—(UP)—Frederick W. Edel, convicted as the murderer of Mrs. Emeline Harrington in New York, is positive that Friday the 13th is his lucky day.

Just 50 minutes before he was scheduled to begin the death march to Sing Sing prison's death chair, Warden Lewis E. Lawes notified him that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt had granted a reprieve until December 30.

The reprieve was granted after a conference in New York between the Governor and Edel's attorney, Alexander Rourke, who appealed on the ground that he had discovered new evidence in the case exonerating his client.

Deputies Bottled Up Mine Agitators

Nokomis, Ill., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Three hundred members of the National Miners' Union invading Nokomis early today intent on picketing mine No. 10 of the Illinois-Indiana Coal Corporation were "bottled up" in a downtown city block by deputy sheriffs and held prisoners while deputies from Christian county served warrants on 35 of the men and packed them off to Taylorville for arraignment.

The picketers moved into Nokomis at 5:30 A. M. with a caravan of 75 automobiles and a motor truck. A force of 60 deputies was waiting for them and after blocking their passage closed in behind and kept the striking miners under surveillance while those for whom warrants had been issued yesterday were singled out by sheriff D. L. Dunbar of Taylorville and his men.

Senate Strong For Tax Reduction Act
Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—After once taking up the $160,000,000 tax reduction today, the Senate later was forced to make a record decision between consideration of the tax cut and the tariff bill and voted overwhelmingly to go ahead with taxes.

Senator Blain, Republican, Wisconsin refused to permit the tariff bill to be laid aside temporarily for consideration of the tax resolution when the tariff measure automatically came before the Senate.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance committee, thereupon moved to go ahead with the tax resolution and his motion was carried, 60 to 15, Democratic and Republican leaders joining in its support.

The employees of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. yesterday gave the Evening Telegraph Goodfellow fund a fine boost with a check for $25 from their benefit fund. Six other donations brought the total of the amount now on hand to $265.00, or about one-fifth of the sum needed to give the poor youngsters of Dixon the kind of a Christmas that every child deserves and is entitled to have.

If the Goodfellows of Dixon will provide the money they can bring joy to hundreds of childish hearts as well as warmth to little feet and hands and health to frail little bodies.

Help Badly Needed
The Goodfellow club wants the name, age and address of every little boy and girl in Dixon who will not have a merry Christmas without Goodfellow help. These names should be sent in at once, care of the Evening Telegraph office. The names will not be published and no mother need hesitate to write us.

Please, Mr. Goodfellow, enlist right now in this campaign to make Christmas cheer universal in Dixon homes. Your help is needed badly and needed now.

Injured Newsboy Is Hero: Saved Friend

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The matter of a fractured right arm and fractured knee cap did not prevent Irving Gould, 18-year-old Waukegan newsboy, from being a hero last night when the chances looked slight for his friend, Lester Thurnwell, also 18 and a newsboy.

The two were delivering their papers by automobile along their route on the same street. As they approached the railroad tracks, Thurnwell failed to see a steam shovel trailing a truck. The automobile smashed into the machinery and skidded onto the tracks.

The train was coming 1,000 feet away. Gould was hurt and Thurnwell lay unconscious with a skull fracture. Gould seized Thurnwell's coat with his able arm and limping from his injured knee, he dragged his friend off the track. He stumbled with him into a ditch at the side of the tracks as the passenger train roared by, a geyser spurting into the air ahead of it marking the end of the automobile.

Ambassador Edge Is Happy In New Post

Havre, France, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Walter E. Edge, new Ambassador to France from the United States, and Mrs. Edge, with their three children, landed here today from aboard the Ile de France, leaving shortly afterward on the boat train for Paris.

City and government authorities greeted the former New Jersey Senator, who succeeds the late Myron T. Herrick at the American Embassy.

The new Ambassador gave French newspapermen a prepared statement which said:

"I am delighted to reach your country. It is with genuine enthusiasm that I will undertake the responsibility entrusted to me by President Hoover of maintaining and perpetuating the deep friendship that has existed always between France and the United States."

C. H. STACKPOLE DIED THURSDAY: RITES SATURDAY

Long Illness Of Well-Known Citizen Is Terminated

Clarence H. Stackpole, a life long resident of Dixon, and well known throughout this locality, passed away at his home, 223 Lincoln Way at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been dangerously ill for several weeks and for some time little hope had been entertained for his recovery. A life long resident of Dixon, he had attained the age of 70 years, eleven months and 17 days. Before being stricken he had been a valued employee of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company. Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. A. Turley Stephenson, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Oakwood and officers and members of Dixon lodge of Elks, of which the deceased was an active member, will have charge of the services at the grave.

Clarence Howard Stackpole was born in Dixon Jan. 5, 1859 and all his life was spent in this city. At the age of 14 he took up the printing business as an apprentice, following the trade for 26 years. It was which he was connected with The Dixon Telegraph. When he severed his connection with this paper he entered the grocery business, which he followed for a time, afterwards establishing a job printing office of his own. Later he was connected with the Dixon Home Telephone Co., and the last seven years he was right-of-way man for the I. N. U. Co.

He was married Dec. 1, 1881 to Maria B. Spiller, and she and the two children born to the union survive. They are Howard A. Stackpole of Chicago and Mrs. Florence E. (Earl) Pierce of Ashton. Four grandchildren—Lowell and John Stackpole and Wayne Pierce—also survive.

Since its organization Mr. Stackpole had been a director of the Dixon Loan & Building Assn. He was a steadfast, conscientious and sterling citizen, whose host of friends tender condolence to the sorrowing family.

NOTHING NEW IN PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

Rockford Officials are Baffled By Death Of Teacher

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Besieged with offers and suggestions from amateur detectives, mediums, and other people who think they have clues, State's Attorney William D. Knight today continued to probe the killing of Miss Cordelia Gummshier, found beaten to death in her apartment last Sunday.

Knight said he made no arrangements for employing special investigators to aid him, but was ready and willing to take any "reasonable step toward solving the mystery."

He said he was submerged with telephone calls, letters and telegrams from persons interested in the crime, many of them creating wild rumors which had to be run down in hope of finding some plausible lead to follow.

Homer Reed, Acting Chief of Police in charge of the Gummshier case, said he planned to question a Rockford man and woman who had informed him of new angles in the case.

The authorities were puzzled over a story told them today by a farmer, Russell Carpenter, who said he was being driven by a strange young man as he was driving toward town this morning. The youth leaped the running board of the farmer's truck and struck Carpenter over the head with a piece of pipe. It was pointed out that the youth might be deranged and might possibly have been connected with the slaying of the teacher.

Mother Of Oregon Man Dies In West

Mrs. Isabelle Price, mother of John Price of Oregon, passed away Tuesday at Long Beach, Calif., and her body is now enroute to this city, where it will arrive Sunday morning. Funeral services will be held at the Pine Creek Church of the Brethren Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

A. T. & T. To Spend Big Sum Next Year

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(UP)—Belief that the prosperity of the United States cannot possibly be affected by such maladjustments as the recent stock market break was given by Walter S. Gifford, President of the rich-corporation in America, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., as the reason that company will spend $70,000,000 in 1930 for extensions and betterments.

PEACE OFFICERS OF COUNTY WERE BANQUET GUESTS

Fine Meeting Was Enjoyed Last Evening At Elks' Club

Sheriff Ward T. Miller and his force of deputies from all parts of the county, all of the bank guard units, members of the board of supervisors, county officers and a few guests enjoyed a most delightful time last evening at the Elks club at a dinner served at 6:30. There were about 125 in all who gathered for the occasion which is to be made an annual event. At the conclusion of the chicken dinner Sheriff Miller welcomed the visitors and expressed his appreciation at the success of the gathering.

Briefly, he called attention of the deputies and bank guards to the importance of added vigilance during the holiday season in their respective localities. He urged the bank guards units to become more active in their marksmanship practice. To both deputies and bank guards, the sheriff called attention to the importance of observing strangers in all localities and the taking of automobile license numbers in suspect cases. He then called upon Attorney Harry C. Warner who presided as toastmaster during the evening in a most efficient manner. After complimenting Sheriff Miller and his force for the fine gathering and its importance, the toastmaster called upon Judge Harry Edwards, who told his listeners that he greatly enjoyed being invited to attend this representative gathering of Lee county citizens.

Praises Cooperation.
State's Attorney Mark C. Keller was next called upon. In his talk, he called attention to the fine spirit of cooperation which exists in all of the law enforcing departments of Lee county, calling particular attention to the manner in which the work of the sheriff's office, state's attorney's office and the courts of the county proceeds daily without conflict, all departments of the county's law-enforcing body working together.

"These officials of the county are entitled to the consideration of its citizenry and justly so," the county prosecutor told his listeners. "These officers are conducted efficiently and honestly with a return to the tax payer of the county of many thousands of dollars each year."

Early Enforcement.
Representative George C. Dixon gave some interesting historical information relating to the early enforcement of law in this locality. He told of a murder committed in Oak county in 1841 after which the murderer was tracked to near DeKalb by officers who followed the print of a horse's foot which bore only half a shoe. He used this example to compare the methods of criminal detection in that early day and now. He also told of the activity of the Driscoll's, father and son, who were brought to Washington Grove in the 40's, where a jury of 111 men heard the evidence and decided that the two should be shot. Fifty-five jurors shot the son and fifty-six, the father. In commenting upon the law enforcing body of Lee county, Representative Dixon said:

"In Lee county we have a highly efficient and honest law enforcing body and it is a credit to the sheriff who has organized this force."

The speaker told of the first county jail in Lee county and said:

First County Jail.
"This evening while we are talking of new jails, jailers and jail birds, it might be interesting to know that the first county jail in Lee county was let at a figure amounting to $1,570, and the structure was erected south of the site of the present court house. Later on a county jail stood on the property now occupied by the McAlpine residence.

A resolution to eject the veteran Pennsylvania politician from the Senate seat which he assumed only yesterday awaited disposition by a perplexed Senate Elections committee, the chairman of which, throughout the debate on Grundy's amendment, repeatedly asked what he was expected to do with the measure.

Two Slayers Meet Death On Gallows

San Quentin Prison, Dec. 13.—(UP)—George Costello and Antone Negra convicted murderers, were hanged here today.

Plans to execute the two men simultaneously were abandoned at the last moment by Warden James B. McElhann.

Costello, who twice attempted suicide while in death row, was sentenced for the murder of an Oakland bank teller during a robbery. Negra was convicted for slaying his business partner.

Talk of New Jail.
Chairman H. C. Warner of the Lee County Central Republican committee, talked briefly of this plan for a new jail in Dixon. He told his listeners that he favored the plan of adding another story to the court house.

TO BE PLAYED IN NEW DIXON H. S. GYMNASIUM

Supt. I. B. Potter Is Made Manager Of Tournament

Dixon has been selected as one of the cities in which the northwest Illinois district of high school basketball teams will compete for sectional honors. It was learned today through Associated Press dispatches; Superintendent I. B. Potter has also been named manager for the district tournament which will be held in the new high school gymnasium March 6 to 8. In previous years the elimination contests have been held at Sterling.

Several hundred students will be attracted to the tournament which has increased in interest in the past few years. The new high school gymnasium will provide seating capacity for 1,600 without erecting temporary bleachers. It will be the first time that Dixon has entertained the district basketball meet and will bring to this city the largest gathering of students ever assembled here for an athletic event. The beautiful new gymnasium with its modern equipment has attracted the attention of the state officials in charge of the annual event and who have awarded the meet to Dixon.

Athletic Director A. C. Bowers was elated when informed at noon today that Dixon had been awarded the district meet. The fact that basketball is rapidly increasing in popularity in high schools throughout the country, is taken to assure a larger registration this year than ever before and it is expected that no less than 20 teams will compete here next spring.

NATIONALS IN CHINA WINNER THREE BATTLES

Threat Of Ironsides Still Remains In Canton Sector

Shanghai, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Force of the Nationalist government today apparently had fought to a standstill three rebellious armies in widely separated parts of China but the threat of widespread revolt, aimed at the overthrow of Nanking, still remained.

Probably the most outstanding victory was that over the insurgent forces beaten back from the gates of Canton with heavy losses. Reports from the southern metropolis indicated that the "Ironsides" division of General Chang Fak-Wei and insurgents from Kwangsi province who several weeks ago cooperated in an advance upon Canton, still were retreating.

These rebels were whipped in a bloody three-day battle just outside the city. Half of the insurgents were said to have been numbered among the casualties, including captured. Nationalist losses were not mentioned.

Another unit of the Nationalist army was credited with having stopped the advance upon Nanking, the Nationalist capital, of the Pukow mutineers at Chuehew, 50 miles north of the rebel objective. Some 30,000 rebels were involved in this encounter.

Grundy Given Oath Of Office Last Eve

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Joseph R. Grundy, who never had any objection to being termed a lobbyist, today was a full-fledged member of the Senate, privileged to use both vote and voice in advancing the cause which lies closest to his heart—the enactment of high tariff legislation.

A resolution to eject the veteran Pennsylvania politician from the Senate seat which he assumed only yesterday awaited disposition by a perplexed Senate Elections committee, the chairman of which, throughout the debate on Grundy's amendment, repeatedly asked what he was expected to do with the measure.

BRIGGS NEAR DEATH
News dispatches from New York City are to the effect that Clare Briggs, Dixon native who has arisen to fame as a cartoonist, is critically ill with neuritis of the optic nerve, and that his death is considered imminent. His second wife, a writer whom he married a few months ago, has been at his bedside daily, and she is quoted as saying her husband is not expected to recover.

Boy, 4, Dead From Drinking Moonshine
Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The lake tragedy of October 29 when William Rogers, a sailor, was saved from the sinking steamer Wisconsin off Kenosha, reached funerally in his home today. His son James, four years old, was dead.

Ever since Rogers was saved there have been celebrations at his home. Mrs. Rogers said today that friends or other husband had expressed their jubilation by calling often, bringing bottles of liquor.

Their son was alone in the house yesterday except for an uncle, Philip O'Donnell. While his uncle was in another room, the boy climbed on a chair and got a bottle half filled with moonshine whiskey. He drank nearly all of it.

Physicians worked over him several hours, but he died late last night.

Slayer Of Two Was Captured On Train
Newport, Ky., Dec. 13.—(UP)—John Gann, 40, who shot and killed his estranged wife, Catherine, and her step-father, Richard Price, at Charleston, W. Va., shortly after midnight, was captured aboard a C. & O. passenger train here today.

Dixon Orchardist Wins State Prize
Urbana, Ill., Dec. 13.—(UP)—Peoria showmen, ranking first and second in the state open competition for the best collections of ten or more varieties of apples, were awarded the highest honors in that division at the annual exhibition of the Illinois State Horticultural Society, in session here this week.

A Dixon man, J. S. Darrah, won third place honors.

In winning 14 out of the 22 first prizes, J. S. Darrah, 97 Brinton Ave., won the lion's share of awards in competing in northern Illinois division.

Millard N. Bailey and Roy Oettle, both of Belleville, each captured eight blue ribbons in the southern Illinois competition. Oettle won four second prizes. He also placed a collection of five trays of apples for third, in competition open to the state.

Widow's Home Robbed Of $5,100 In Jewels

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(UP)—Four men stole into Mrs. Paul Wiedel's home through a pantry window while she was sleeping before dawn today.

One of the men put a gag in Mrs. Wiedel's mouth and stood guard over her while the other three took their own time ransacking her home.

An hour and a half later the robbers departed with $5,100 worth of jewels, furs and cash.

Mrs. Wiedel is 40 years old, the widow of a former ward committee-man.

Bright Auto Lights Cause Of Fatality

Beardstown, Ill., Dec. 13.—(UP)—An inquest will be held today into the death of William H. Thompson, 73, this city, injured fatally when struck by truck as he was walking along the state highway near here late yesterday.

Ira Surratt, Beardstown, driver of the truck, said that lights from an approaching car blinded him and that he was unable to see the aged pedestrian.

THE CHRISTMAS SPECTRUM

SEVEN points hath the Christmas star;
One is the love that shines afar
From God to man, and one is
That leaps from the world to the Lord above,
And one is good will on the happy earth,
And one is purity, one is peace,
And two are the joys that never cease—
God's joy,
Man's joy—
Aflame in the star of the wonderful Birth.

And the light of God's love is a golden light,
And man's love to man is crimson bright,
And man's love to God is an azure ray,
Alas, when it flickers and dies away!
And the seven rays through the worshiping night,
Like the flash of all jewels exult and play—
God's joy,
Man's joy—
Yet they shine as one, and the star is white.
—Amos R. Wells.

2 tablespoons milk
2 eggs, beaten
Carefully look over the oysters and remove any shell particles. Heat the oysters, salt, paprika and butter. When the oysters have "plumped," add the rest of the ingredients, which have been beaten together. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens slightly. Serve at once on hot, buttered toast. Garnish with parsley.

Store oysters in the icebox until ready to use.
Save all tin cans that have held coffee, baking powder and cocoa. They serve as excellent containers for sending away cakes, cookies and other Christmas confections.

Annual Dinner for Monahan Club

The annual Christmas dinner of the Monahan club was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. A. D. George, with Mrs. John Ortgeison, as the assistant hostess. At one o'clock the guests were seated at a beautiful appointed table Santa Claus on a red Christmas bell was the charming center piece used. Roast goose with oodles of good things was the menu much enjoyed by each on present. Mrs. Mary Davenport was an out-of-town guest.

The exchange of gifts followed the dinner, each guest drawing a ribbon from Santa Claus bell to secure their gifts.

The election of officers was held Mrs. John Ortgeison the very capable president being re-elected to office for another year. Mrs. Austin George was made treasurer and secretary.

The afternoon passed very quickly, the guests reminiscing over the many happy occasions of the club in the years of their organization. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Decker, 212 Decker Ave.

But, Nevertheless, And, However—

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The familiar motorcop cry, "pull over to the curb," rang in the ears of the woman motorist who ran the red light at Fountain Square last night. "I think there must be some mistake," the lady said.

Officer Jack Serbin looked more closely. "Why, you're Mrs. Bartlett, the Mayor's wife," he exclaimed. "I certainly am," said Mrs. Bartlett, and drove on.

"Nevertheless," said Officer Serbin, later, "I can't help but feel she was wrong about that stoplight."

Annual Christmas Children's Party

The juveniles and members of the Dixon Woman's Club are invited to be present at the Christian church Saturday, Dec. 14, to attend the annual children's Christmas party.

There will be a Christmas program and social hour. Come prepared for a jolly good time.

Class in Interesting Christmas Program

The King's Daughters class of Grace Evangelical church gave an interesting Christmas program at the home of Mrs. I. S. Graybill Wednesday afternoon. The program included a piano solo by Mrs. Sarah Reis, entitled "Holy City"; Scripture lesson and prayer by the president, and reading of the minutes and roll call. Twenty-two members were present and twelve visitors. The election of officers resulted in the same officers being re-elected. Other business was transacted, also. The song, "Joy to the World," was sung. A biblic story and tableau was given by several members of the class and was very inspiring.

A reading, "How Christmas Came to the Poor House," by Mrs. Ed. Graves, was enjoyed; and a reading, "The Little Fellow's Stocking," Mrs. H. S. Newman.

Glessner-Nettz Wedding Thursday

Albert Glessner and Mrs. Mae Netzt, both of Grand Detour, were married at the parsonage of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of the church officiating. Attending this popular couple were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parks of Grand Detour.

Both the bride and her attendant were gowned in dark blue crepe with coats and hats in harmonizing colors while both men wore dark suits.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Glessner will return to Grand Detour to make their future home where their many friends are awaiting them.

WINTER FUR FASHIONS INCLUDE BLACK ERMINE

Paris—(AP)—It takes more ermine than it used to for an ermine coat. Wraps are longer, on the whole, and sleeves are larger than they used to be. But the chief reason is that some of the most exclusive furriers are dovetailing the skins so that the seams do not show, a process which entails much wastage.

Black ermine is the newest thing in the fur market. Most of it is Japanese ermine dyed a raven black. Much Japanese ermine is used in the natural white, also. Thousands of ermine tails are being used for trimming on coats and dresses otherwise furless.

Health Seal Sale Important

The Health Seal sale is of great importance to every community. If it is successful, it places the seal of kindness to fellow men on its people, with the desire to help unfortunate. The money realized from the seal sale is used to assist those suffering with tuberculosis, or those undernourished children who are ready prey for this disease, for milk and for other necessities. Old people in failing health and the young young are assisted by the T. B. Health seal sale. The seals are mailed out and it is left to each one to purchase what they desire.

NEW YORK-PARIS FASHIONS

THE jacket suit in tweed is a very useful type of costume to include in your fall wardrobe. It answers so well for the days in the fall or winter when a top coat is just too warm. The model sketched is designed after Capt. Molyneux, whose clothes are so smartly, and yet so practically styled. This particular suit of green, brown and beige flecked tweed accents the new feminine style. The short coat has a tuxedo collar of nutria which blends well with the tweed. The treatment of the fur on the sleeves follows the new gamut line. The accompanying frock is interesting. You will note the suggestion of the waistline, done so cleverly by draping, and the use of a buckle, while the five large buttons in simulated tortoise shell, matching the buckle, are used as trimming. By the way, matching buckles and buttons are extremely popular for trimming this season and for more formal frocks as well as those for practical wear. They may either match the material in color or, more often, are used as a note of contrast.

Nachusa W. M. S. In Fine Meeting

The meeting of the Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Nachusa, held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Emmert, was one of unusual interest and enjoyment. The lesson of the afternoon was on "Christmas In Out Mission."

sions," conducted by Mrs. John Weigle. During the business meeting new officers were elected, as follows:

President—Mrs. Maud Crawford.
Vice President—Mrs. Ruth Coleman.
Secretary—Mrs. Fred Johnson.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Girtdt.

Present at the meeting were two charter members, who helped form the society forty years ago, Miss Annie Emmert and Mrs. Alice Welty and in recognition of their service in the organization Mrs. Crawford presented each with a rose. Mrs. Fannie Wolf and Mrs. Ruth Coleman assisted the hostess in serving tasty refreshments which brought the meeting to a pleasant close.

Mrs. Hipple Hostess Last Evening

Mrs. John Hipple delightfully entertained at her home last evening with a buncio party honoring Mrs. Mayme Haling, who leaves next Thursday for Los Angeles, Cal., where she will make her future home.

Mrs. Gorge Curtis won the fever for high score at buncio; Miss Esther Trough won the second favor; and Mrs. Susan Trough the consolation.

Mrs. Hipple served a tempting two-course luncheon. The home was gay with Christmas decorations and cut flowers.

After the luncheon Mrs. A. L. Carr, in a few well chosen words, presented to Mrs. Haling a lovely gift from those present, voicing their regret at her departure from the city and wishing her every happiness in her new home and also wishing her a safe and pleasant journey to the west.

Silver Wedding And Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vest on Tuesday, Dec. 10th, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, and 12 also was Mrs. Vest's birthday anniversary. During the day Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McBroom, and son, and Mrs. Jos. Smart of Canton, Ill., motored to Dixon as a surprise and spent a happy day at the Vest home. Mrs. Vest and Mrs. McBroom are sisters.

In the evening a most appetizing chicken dinner was served and enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Vest were presented a set of beautiful silver by those present and during the day another lovely silver set arrived from Chicago, from their son Eugene Vest, who is now working for his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago.

During the day friends called and messages of congratulation came through the mail, also, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Vest many happy returns of the day.

Officers Elected For Sunday School

The Grace Evangelical Sunday school held their annual business meeting with the election of officers on Wednesday evening. The reports revealed the school in a very prosperous condition. The following officers were elected for the year 1930: C. C. Buzard, superintendent; Raymond Messner, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Murray Wentling, Secretary; Mr. I. S. Graybill, treasurer. The rest of the officers will be elected by the Sunday School Board.

"—UNTO THE LEAST OF THESE."

Do you remember how you used to look forward to Christmas when you were a kid?

Along about the middle of November you'd get a sudden thrill, every so often, when you'd happen to think that Christmas was less than two months away. Then, as time passed, and December came along, you'd begin to count the weeks. And finally you'd be counting the days. And, like as not, on the night before Christmas you could hardly get to sleep, and you'd wake up before dawn, just burning up to get in where the tree was and see what Santa Claus had left for you.

Remember? Sure you do. And if you've got a youngster of your own now, you don't need to tell us that you're doing everything you can to make Christmas just that kind of exciting, breath-taking, marvelous holiday for him that it used to be for you.

All of this, of course, is just another way of saying that Christmas, above all, is a day for the children. There isn't anything in all the world more heart-warming than the sight of a happy kid with his eyes all sparkling as he looks at his Christmas presents. And, on the other hand, there isn't anything in all the world that'll make a man cry any quicker than the sight of a youngster whose Christmas day is bleak and barren.

That's what we want to write about today—the children in this city who are due to have an unhappy Christmas.

There are a lot of 'em—more than you'd think, considering our general level of prosperity. Kids whose daddies are out of work, kids whose daddies are gone—kids, in short, who live in homes where every dime in the family pocketbook has to go for the bare necessities of life, like bread and coal and milk.

What are those kids going to get on Christmas day? Why, if they're lucky, some of them will get a little ten-cent auto, or a couple of oranges, or a few sticks of striped candy—and nothing else.

That's the kind of Christmas they'll have, if some of us who are more fortunate don't get almighty busy and do something.

Can you stand it to have any kid in this city put in that kind of a Christmas? Won't it spoil your own day just to think about it?

You don't need to answer. You feel just the way we do. So we're asking you to help us bring real Christmas—with toys and candy and happiness and all the trimmings—to all the unlucky kids in this city.

We want money with which to buy clothing, toys, etc. We'll find the kids who need 'em—kids who won't get any otherwise—and we'll see to it that they get them.

We know, just as well as we know our own name, that you're going to help us. It'll make your own Christmas happier. You'll be better able to enjoy your own tree, and your own child's happiness.

A home down on one of those side-streets where nobody seems to have quite enough. Three or four kids in the home; kids who've seen the bright shop windows, and heard their school mates talking about what they're going to get—but who know that they, themselves, aren't going to get a solitary thing. A mother, tired and heart-broken, suffering ten times their disappointment because the Christmas is going to be so barren.

It's the night before Christmas, and there's enough unhappiness in this one house to do the whole city for a year.

Then, all of a sudden, a big truck rumbles up outside. Somebody knocks boisterously on the door. And then—while the kids' eyes widen, unbelievably—a big parcel is handed inside, and a man sings out, "Merry Christmas!" And the kids discover that there is a Santa Claus, after all, even if he does look remarkably like an ordinary, hard-boiled truck driver.

Won't you jump at the chance to have a part in a scene like that? Sure you will. Just bring or send your donations to the Goodfellows, care of The Telegraph,—and we'll do the rest.

Texas Guinan, New York night club hostess, advises the ladies to let husbands do whatever they want to do. Of course she means their own husbands.

The measure that would give the Philippines independence comes up again in Congress. One of these days some congressman is going to the bottom of this matter and find out where the Philippines are:

The queen bee has 5000 eyes. Almost as many as the lady who keeps track of the neighborhood doings.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHIAN—PICTURES BY KOSCH

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLORE THE PICTURE)

Oh, my, what fun the Tines had. It seemed that everyone was glad that he had come to toyland and joined in with the work. When working with a things that's fun, it isn't long until it's done. Why, even Clowny grew out of the thought of trying to shirk.

With hammers, saws and nails galore they worked upon the toy shop floor and fixed a lot of scooters into dandy running form. Express cars, too, were finished quick and every one of them looked slick. Said Carpy, "I have worked so hard I'm really getting warm."

Just then a little elf appeared. He shouted loudly, "Don't get skeered. It's only me and I have come to bring you bread and milk. Old Santa had a happy lunch that you fine lads would like some lunch. When you have eaten all you want you'll feel as fine as silk." The bunch seemed glad to rest awhile. Wee Scouty answered with a smile, "We'll sit right down and eat a bit. I'm sure 'twill make us all feel fit." And while the elf looked on the Tines ate and ate.

And then the elf said: "Now I'll let you play a bowling game. You'll get a lot of fun from that, I'm sure. The pins must all be tried." But ere he had a chance to throw, a little monk was spied.

"Oh, watch him, cried the little elf. The monk yelled: 'I'll play myself.' The funny things that happened brought a lot of cheerful grins. The monkey jumped up in the air and swung his tail round here and there. In all of this excitement he upset the bowling pins.

(The Tines work in the paint shop next.)

U. S. WIRELESS CONTROL

On Dec. 13, 1912, the United States government assumed control of all wireless stations in its territory.

Volume and activities of numerous amateur stations which had sprung up in the country had increased to such an extent as to seriously interfere with the operation of government and commercial stations.

An act passed by Congress provided for the licensing of radio operators and stations within the country and made it unlawful to operate an unlicensed station.

Enforcement of the regulations was placed in the hands of Department of Commerce officials. The country was divided into nine districts, each in charge of a radio inspector.

The duties of inspectors in each of these districts consisted in inspecting and testing radio apparatus, examining and licensing operators, and licensing radio stations.

Daily Health Talk

RICKETS PREVENTION

Rickets is a nutritional disease
By J. VICTOR GREENEBAUM,
M. D.
Cincinnati, Ohio.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Rickets is a nutritional disease with its gross manifestations appearing in the bones. The condition has been recognized for over three hundred years, but even today the exact cause of the disease has not been discovered.

The most widely accepted explanation of its cause is based on the theory that lack of ultra violet rays of the sun produces the condition. Investigators throughout the world have found the disease to exist almost everywhere, but most frequently in the temperate zones.

Many fond and careful parents have been shocked and distressed to have the diagnosis of rickets made on their babies when they believed them to be doing nicely. Fortunately the signs found at this age are only early manifestations of the disease, which can easily be cured. Could anything have been done to prevent its appearance? With the newer knowledge of rickets gained by experimentation during the past years this question can be answered in the affirmative.

Many investigators have attempted to prevent this disease by putting the pregnant mother on a special diet, or by giving her cod liver oil, or by ultra violet radiation, but without complete success. Animal experiments seem to have proven that this disease can be prevented in the offspring, but there is no definite proof that this can be done in humans, although proper dietary measures and other procedures will influence the degree of rickets in the offspring. Other investigators have begun antirachitic measures during the first month of infancy with the use of cod liver oil, ultra violet rays of the sun, and special lamps, and the newly discovered irradiated ergosterol that is now on the market.

These investigators have achieved considerable success by these methods provided they are begun early and continued throughout infancy. Well developed rickets can be demonstrated in the bones of a large percentage of babies during the first two months of life, showing that the factors producing the condition are operative as soon as the baby is born. If, however, anti-rachitic measures are begun early, that is, before one month of age, the appearance of rickets can be prevented. It is hoped that the use of the preventive measures against rickets will become as general, and as successful, as is the use of orange and vegetable juices in the campaign for the elimination of scurvy. Just be sure that your doctor keeps a close eye on the baby, so that neither rickets nor any other ailment gets a strong hold.

CASE NEARING END

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Defense testimony occupied today's session in the trial of David Blumenfeld, Chicago jeweler, charged with complicity in the theft of $180,000 from the State Bank of Chenoa, January 13, 1925.

It was expected that the defense testimony would occupy part of tomorrow's session with the case going to the jury before adjournment tomorrow.

Blumenfeld has been tried twice before on this charge. He was found guilty in the first trial, sentenced to 25 years in prison, but obtained his release three weeks later on a technicality. The jury disagreed in the second trial.

"JOKER" FOUND IN SUSPENSION OF IOWA STARS

They Have Opportunity of Appeal To Faculty Committee

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 13.—(UP)—The University of Iowa's suspension of more than 20 of its athletes in an attempt to restore itself to good grace with the Western Conference was found today to have had a "joker" concealed in it.

The university's action wasn't final and the athletes have a source of appeal that may bring about their return to good standing. It even is possible that at the same time the conference accepts Iowa back into the fold, regarded as a certainty within a reasonable length of time it may tell many of the athletes to come back too.

The Hawkeyes, who last Saturday lost their appeal from a suspension effective January 1, 1930, declared the 20-odd athletes ineligible because they benefited, to the amount of not more than $45, from a "loan" fund.

That action was regarded at the time as ending the college careers of the young men, but there is still hope because they can appeal to the Conference's Faculty Athletic Committee to rule on the University's action. This is just what will be done.

Iowa probably will come back to the Conference by submitting for a reopening of the case. The Conference left the way open for such a move. It is possible, but not probable, that the Conference may restore Iowa on its own initiative.

Only one possible obstacle remains—Iowa has refused to do anything about the reported hostility of some prominent Conference officials toward some of the Iowa athletic officials.

The report some Iowa officials are in bad standing has not been confirmed, but if it is true, Iowa isn't disposed to talk about it. It was willing to rule its athletes ineligible but it made no statement about its athletic heads.

Two Hard Punchers Meet In N. Y. Ring

New York, Dec. 13.—(UP)—If tonight's welterweight boxing match between Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, B. C., and Ruby Goldstein of New York is not ended by a knockout long before its scheduled ten-rounds boxing fans are going to be surprised.

McLarnin and Goldstein are touted as the two hardest hitters in the division and the betting is all on a knockout. McLarnin's supporters are offering 9 to 5 he wins the bout and even money that he scores a knockout, while Goldstein's backers are willing to bet 1 to 2 that Ruby will stop the far coast Irishman.

Because of the known punching ability of the two principals and their popularity with the fans a $100,000 crowd is in prospect.

Must Change Rules To Permit Meeting

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—A rule prohibiting boxing matches between whites and negroes, passed by the old Illinois State Athletic Commission because of a riot during the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson bout at the Coliseum last March, must be rescinded before the pair will be permitted to engage in a title bout in the same arena, for Promoter Jack Dempsey January 17.

Dempsey has Fields, welterweight titleholder, and Thompson, San Francisco Negro, lined up for a championship bout, and it is expected the new commission will repeal the ruling made by the commission headed by Paul Prehn. Prehn's committee made the regulation after one man was killed and several were injured in a riot during the last meeting of the pair. The trouble starting when a white man and a negro came to blows over the merits of the fighters.

The meeting, if it is held, will be the third between Fields and Thompson, both previous battles having resulted in decision victories for Fields.

Trafton Unafraid As His Bout Nears

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—George Trafton, center of the Chicago Bears, who will make his professional fistbow against Charles Arthur Shires at White City Monday night, apparently is quite unafraid by the reputation as a knockout established by the "Great One."

Trafton plans to take the Shires bout along with all other routine business, and will take his final workout Sunday afternoon by playing center for the Bears against Bennie Friedman's New York Giants.

The fact that Shires knocked over Dan Daly of Cleveland in less than a round last Monday night, according to Trafton, has not caused him to forget that Friedman, Tony Planksky and the rest of the Giants are tough, and require his immediate attention more than does the impending ring bout.

Trojans Arrive In Los Angeles Today

Los Angeles, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Twenty-seven Tartans from Carnegie Tech, the first of two formidable Pittsburgh football teams with games scheduled against the University of Southern California this winter, will arrive here today and participate in a light workout on the Pasadena Rose Bowl turf.

Tomorrow the Tartans will furnish the opposition for the Trojans' ninth intercollegiate clash in the Los Angeles Coliseum, and will be on the short end of wagers.

On New Year's Day the University of Pittsburgh will meet Coach Howard Jones' aggregation in the Rose Bowl in the annual east-west classic.

Coach Jones sent his team through a light topping off drill yesterday, thereby closing two weeks of strenuous preparations for the Tartans.

The chief worry of the Trojan men, if his drill on defense is a yard stick, is the touted passing attack of the Tech outfit.

Cold Weather Hits Army Team Practice

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 13.—(UP)—Army's football forces are just about through with outdoor workouts, too, have to be brief as other sports occupy most of the gymnasium floor space. The recent cold snap has frozen the plains so hard that Coach Biff Jones has refused to risk battered elbows and knees. The curtailment of practice at West Point put more than an ordinary crimp into the team's scheme of things. The Army machine was slipped into a neutral gear after the Notre Dame game, with the idea of a concentrated practice period this week.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By the Associated Press
McKeesport, Pa.—Eddie Brannon, Pittsburgh, stopper George Safran, Canton, O., (1); Cupddy de Marco, Charleston, Pa., outpointed Danny Russell, Baltimore, (4).
Ottumwa, Ia.—"Battling" Clemons, Atchinson, Kan., knocked out Jacques Elverillo San Blas Indian, (6).
Cottage Grove, Ore.—Bill Norton, Fargo, N. D., outpointed Roy Woods, Seattle, (6).

Bud Taylor Given Time To Recover

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The date of the Bul Taylor-Earl Mastro return bout at the Chicago Stadium, again has been moved up and will be held Dec. 27 instead of Dec. 20. The bout originally was scheduled for tonight, but was postponed when Taylor sustained an ankle injury. The additional week was granted to give the Terre Haute featherweight sufficient time in which to recover completely.

Von Porat's Suit Against Malloy Out

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—A libel suit for $50,000 filed by Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight boxer, against Promoter Mique Malloy, was dismissed by Judge Joseph Sabatini.

Otto failed to appear in court yesterday when the case was called, which grew out of remarks Malloy was alleged to have made in which belittled Von Porat's fistie prowess. Von Porat was given the option of renewing the suit.

Fields Defies Jinx Of Boston's Garden

Boston, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, will defy the jinx that trails titleholders in this city tonight in a clash with the hard-punching "Gorilla" Jones of Akron, O., in a non-title bout at the Boston Garden.

Five champions have come to grief in this city during the last year but this series of mishaps has not worried Fields. It has, however, caused considerable thought among those who wager on boxing contests, the odds to 10-9 on the champion.

Fields is confident that his terrific left hook, which won him the title from Joe Dundee recently, will be as effective against the Akron Negro.

Freeport Phone Co. Planning Expansion

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Hearing of the application of the northwest telephone company of Freeport to purchase five small city companies was concluded today before W. M. Hammond, examiner for the Illinois Commerce Commission. The commission will render a decision after reviewing Hammond's report.

The Freeport company asked authority to buy the Polo Telephone Company, Coleta Telephone Company, Pearl City Independent Telephone Company, Pitcher Telephone Company and the Lancaster & Cedarville Telephone Company. Approval of an issue of 800 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock and 4,800 shares of common to consummate the purchase.

ELOPERS ARE HELD

Denton, Tex., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Vernon Ramsey and Evelyn Miller, arrested Tuesday when they arrived here by airplane, were still held in jail here today awaiting advices from North Chicago authorities as to their disposition. No charges have been filed against the Waukegan couple here.

OFFICER FIRED UPON

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(UP)—Deputy prohibition administrator James A. Eaton confirmed the report here today that an agent from his office was fired upon yesterday afternoon while enroute to Litchfield with a prisoner, Edward J. Shield, Sawyerville. Shields was arrested following a raid by dry agents at his home where two 300-gallon alcohol stills were seized.

SHOPPERS SAW MURDER

Hamilton, O., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Albert Bowling, 45, shoemaker, killed Fred Philpot, 38, on a downtown street here today, while scores of Christmas shoppers were passing. At the police station Bowling said he killed Philpot because the latter induced his wife to leave him.

Such a quaint thing happened to my mother in Paris!
Really! I thought you were born in London?—Tit-Bits.

A turkey shoot will be held at the home of Pearl Ackerson, five miles west of Rochelle, Saturday, all day, starting at 9 A. M. Everybody invited. Bring your guns.

Attorney Barge E. Leonard of Portland, Oregon, a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard, of Rochelle, who has been attending the War College at Washington, D. C. was recently admitted to the United States Court, Chief Justice Taft, presiding.

The fire zones of the city have rearranged and a new zone, No. 4, has been added. The change was made necessary by the natural growth of the city and will prove more convenient in locating fires.

Zone No. 1 will consist of the former first ward, all that portion of the city north of Third Ave. and east of the center of Seventh St.

Zone No. 2 will consist of the old second ward, consisting of that portion of Rochelle north of Third Ave. and west of the center of Seventh Street.

Zone No. 3 consists of the former third ward, everything south of Third Ave. and north of Kyte creek.

Zone No. 4, the new zone, will consist of everything south of Kyte creek.

ADMITTS CONSPIRACY

Crown Point, Ind., Dec. 12—(UP)—A plea of guilty to conspiracy to murder, was made before Judge Martin L. Smith today by Fred Brenman, alleged East Chicago liquor baron. He was sentenced to two to 14 years in state prison.

Brenman was charged with conspiracy to murder John Marovich, a rival in the liquor business. He had previously been acquitted on a murder charge, and indictment followed accusations by Nick Sudovick and Al Armstrong, both convicted in connection with the murder.

VICE PRESIDENT SICK

Washington, Dec. 12—(UP)—Vice President Curtis was sent home for treatment of a cold by his physician today, after spending the morning at the Capitol.

WEST BROOKLYN

WEST BROOKLYN—John Walter and son was here from near Welland on Monday and called upon friends and acquaintances.

Supervisors John Fassig and Julius Delhotal are spending several days this week in Dixon this week while the board is in session. They tried going back and forth, but their car skidded on the slippery pavement and struck a corn wagon, so they decided to remain in town.

Mr. and Mrs. August Chaon were out from Aurora over Sunday and spent the day with his mother Mrs. Kate Chaon, who returned home with them for a week's visit.

Last week we reported in error that B. J. Long was at a sanitarium in Missouri but instead he was a patient at a central Kansas hospital where he submitted to an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dingus, Mrs. Oliver Chaon and Mrs. Frank Halmaier motored to LaSalle on Wednesday where they spent the day shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris July welcomed a baby boy to their home on Monday and Chris is busy getting up the cigars.

George Halmaier moved into the Hildman building Wednesday where he will conduct a soft drink parlor. The family will live upstairs and George is doing considerable decoration and installing of fixtures below.

Mr. and Mrs. John Danekas were in town Thursday calling upon friends.

Tony Halmaier purchased several fine dairy cows of George Gehant on Wednesday.

Albert Hoerber drove to Princeton Monday where he attended a sale.

Frank Halmaier Jr., was a business caller in Amboy on Tuesday.

Bert Lyman was here from Mendota Tuesday doing some plumbing.

John S. Deer was a business caller in Amboy Saturday.

Harold Kessler was home from his studies at Dixon over Sunday and visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kessler.

The twenty-second annual stockholders meeting of the local farmers elevator was held at the opera house on Monday with a large majority of the stock holders present. The elevator experienced a very successful year and a five percent dividend was declared. John R. Oester, Henry Ladenberger and Alex Gehant were elected to the offices of directors.

Jacob Henkle was a business caller in Compton on Monday.

Walter Acker had the honor of bringing out a truckload of first prize heifers for the owner at Earl-ville, following the closing of the stock show at Chicago.

Ralph and Miss Lucille Kehm were here from East Inlet Tuesday calling upon friends.

Leo Henry shelled and delivered his crop of corn to market here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merchon were here from near Franklin Grove on Thursday and spent the day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chaon.

Howard Bodmer was in town Wednesday calling upon friends following his operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burkhardt were here from Parktown, South Dakota and visited at the homes of friends and relatives here.

Many of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morrissey gathered at their home on Sunday evening and pleasantly surprised them with a farewell party.

Louis Ghant and son Paul were business callers in Ashton Tuesday.

At a special meeting of the local fire company Tuesday evening it was decided to hold a New Year's Bazaar in order to raise additional funds toward a purchase of a community fire truck. The boys upon the various committees are at work getting things in readiness for a bigger and better bazaar than ever. So reserve the Second, Third and Fourth of January for a good time here.

Andrew Vincent, C. H. Merschon, Clarence Michel, bank guards and Chris July, constable drove to Dixon Thursday evening where they were guests of the county, at a chicken dinner.

George McEern was here from Compton Wednesday calling upon friends.

George Montavon brought home some fine specimens of corn which he picked out of a crib back in Ohio. The ears are fourteen inches long and were raised on stalks twelve feet high and the yield per acre was 170 bushel. The ground was some of the river bottom land near Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallisath motored to Rockford Monday where they visited with friends.

Grandma Rosa Oester was pleasantly surprised Sunday when all of her children gathered at her home to celebrate her eighty-sixth birthday anniversary. They all brought well filled baskets and a table was spread fit for a king. In the center stood a large birthday cake with lighted candles. The afternoon was spent in playing cards and talking over old times and no doubt the affair will long be cherished by Mrs. Oester.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Oester, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oester of Milbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wigum, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Oester, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walter, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oester of Aurora and Mr. and Mrs. John Erbes.

Carl Maves was over from near Lee Center Wednesday posting bills announcing his closing out sale.

George Henrich and John Truckenbrod were here from near Sublette Monday attending the elevator meeting.

Miss Geneva White was home from Spring Valley on Sunday and visited with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. White.

Morris Bloom was here from Cicero Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrissey were in Mendota Wednesday visiting with friends.

A truck loaded with cattle and hogs skidded upon the pavement at the Schnuckel corner on route 70 Wednesday night doing considerable damage to both the livestock and the truck.

V. F. Waldschmidt was a business caller here from near Sublette Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Meyer received word from their daughter Mas Thais to the fact that she had received a position with one of the Aurora banks and will be obliged to finish her school course at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haub were in town Wednesday. Joe has been released temporarily from the hospital having escaped with the loss of but one finger but is contemplating upon going to Mayo Bros. for further treatment soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hulibsch motored Mendota Sunday where they visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Michel were in the city several days last week and visited with their daughter Miss Esther.

Walter Oester and Donald Harris were here from Rockford on Sunday and enjoyed a days hunting with friends.

Laurent Gehant had a new shingle roof put upon his home this week.

Fred Biggart and Steve Sherman are busy this week changing the interior of the Meyer store so as to make it less susceptible to burglars.

The dairy school held in the opera house Friday afternoon was well attended.

FIGHT IN LAUNDRY. East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A Chinese laundryman lost half of his right ear and a waiter was hit on the head with a hot iron in a fight at the laundry here. As a result, Luis Pappas, the waiter, was arrested today on a warrant charging hayhem. He said that Chu Lu, the laundryman, branded him with the hot iron when he called at the laundry to see a girl employee, and that he then bit the laundryman's ear.

KONJOLA WINS QUICK VICTORY IN GRAVE CASE

Alton Resident, Ill. Thirty-six Years, Tells of Remarkable Experience with New Medicine.

MR. ROY WOOF.

"I suffered for years with stomach and liver ailments," said Mr. Roy Woof, 233 West Twelfth street, Alton. "Nothing I tried would relieve me and my system became so run down that I felt a ready prey to neuritis. Pains racked my limbs, shoulders and back. A weak liver caused bilious spells. My stomach rebelled at the simplest of foods. I grew weak and feverish and subject to colds."

"While despondent over my condition my friends suggested Konjola. I grew stronger day by day after I began using this medicine. My liver responded almost at once. I was no longer bilious and my stomach so improved that I ate heartily. The pains in my back, shoulders and limbs gradually disappeared as neuritis was conquered by this great medicine. I have won back vitality and energy and give all credit to Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Dixon at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 West First St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

He Recalls the Old Days

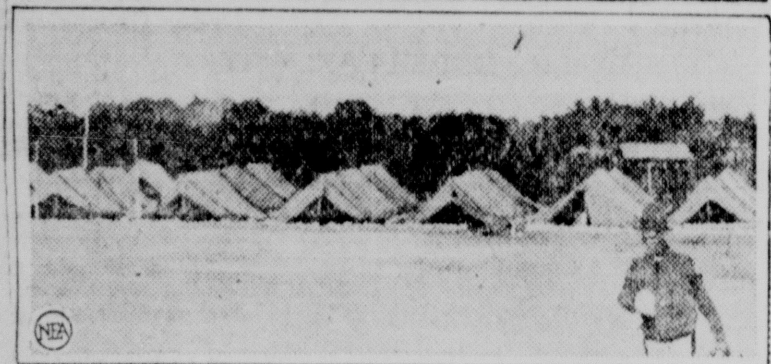

Mose Dezell, above, one of the original settlers of Pioneer, is one of the few old-timers who have remained here throughout the years and he recalls the days when the west was really wild. Below is the main street of the "ghost town," whose abandoned buildings were long ago taken over by bats and owls.

Trouble Zones in Haiti

Trouble spots in Haiti, where more than a thousand United States Marines have been assigned to preserve order, are indicated on the map above. Twelve natives were killed in rioting at Aux Cayes, scene of the first bloodshed, and the telephone line from there to Port au Piment was destroyed. Marine reinforcements were landed from the cruiser Galveston at Jacmel, about 30 miles from Port au Prince, capital of the Republic. American women and children were being evacuated from Torbeck and Jeremie. Pictured below is the Marine camp at Port au Prince, where 700 troops are regularly on duty.

Ship and Shore Linked by 'Phone

The first two-way telephone conversations between a shore point and a ship at sea were held the other day when persons in eastern cities talked to officers and passengers aboard the steamship Leviathan 200 miles out of New York. The historic event is pictured above as H. A. Lafount, left, of the Federal Radio Commission, D. W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, and William S. Gifford, right, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, talked with Commodore H. A. Cunningham, master of the Leviathan, through the ether. Below is the short wave length telephone equipment in the deck house aboard the Leviathan. Here incoming and outgoing calls are handled at a charge of $7 a minute up to a distance of 1400 miles.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, inmate of MRS. RHODES' boarding house, is struggling to death. BORN IN DIXON, "GOD" detective, ASSASSIN, POLICE LIEUT. STRAWN, EMIL SEVIER, former boarder, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth, BERT MAGNUS, amateur, scenario writer, and DAVID SUFFICIENT.

Dundee learns from papers in Mrs. Hogarth's trunk that the SALLY GRAYES who wrote her once a month was her daughter, and that she lived in dread of Sally's husband, DAN GRIFIN, sought for enforcement, revealing mysterious details of Sally's murder in New York June 2, 1928. Dundee, Griffin, murdered both women and that he is or has been living at the Rhodes home.

An old railroad employee with Dundee's name on it, showing he left New York June 3 adds to Dundee's knowledge. Sevier, captured, insists he did not commit the crime and implements Dundee's plan for Corp and finds her dead, strangled with her hair braids. Sevier is accused of both crimes but the evidence is against him. Sevier, who comes forward with her father and establishes a perfect alibi for Sevier. The police, baffled, agree to give Dundee until Monday to work on his theory that whoever he is, killed the three women.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIII

BONNIE DUNDEE'S sudden exit from Lieutenant Strawn's office on the heels of his promise to produce the "bad penny" by Monday night was due not so much to a boyish love of a dramatic exit as to an almost panicky desire to evade questioning by his astute chief.

For Strawn would inevitably have demanded: "If you believe Dan Griffin is a boarder at the Rhodes House, who else could he be but Henry Dowd? He is the only member of the household who has given a false name and false address. Better let me put him on the grill. I'll soon find out if he's Dan Griffin!"

And Dundee did not want Strawn or anyone else to "grill" Henry Dowd just yet. For he sincerely believed that such tactics would get them nowhere, at least for a long and tedious time. For if Henry Dowd was indeed Dan Griffin, murderer of three women, he was a consummately clever villain. For five years Dan Griffin had lived under some alias or other, in perhaps a score of cities. And if Henry Dowd was Griffin, he had undoubtedly covered his tracks well, had built up a story of his "past" which would necessitate endless police investigations before his fastidious could be proved, and his real identity pinned upon him. Not really would a man who had the brains and the cold-blooded courage to kill three women confess that he was not only a bank absconder but a murderer.

Moreover, Dan Griffin, whoever he was, had been amply assured by the newspapers both in Hamilton and New York that he had not left a single clue upon the actual scene of any of his three crimes. With this assurance, Henry Dowd, if he was really Dan Griffin, could simply deny all knowledge of the three crimes, as, before the coroner's jury and upon first being questioned, he had denied all knowledge of or complicity in the Hogarth and Barker murders. As for his alias, if it was challenged, he could stick to his story or present the police with an intricate new one which would keep them busy for days or weeks before they could prove its falsity.

And even if its falsity was proved, where would the police be then? In five years Dan Griffin had had ample opportunity to change his appearance and personality so that an identification by a Belton acquaintance would be practically an impossibility. But granted that Henry Dowd could be proved to be Dan Griffin, just how near a conviction would the police could prove opportunity and motive, but of actual evidence connecting Henry Dowd with the crimes there was none.

AS for the two murders at the Rhodes House, a clever defense attorney could convince any jury that, no matter if Dan Griffin was an inmate of the house when the two crimes were committed, others besides Griffin had both motive and opportunity to kill Mrs. Hogarth—the motive being greed.

No, his case was not complete by any means, would not be complete even if he proved that Henry Dowd was Dan Griffin. Dundee told himself ruefully as he took his seat at the dinner table. But he liked a hard job.

He was late. The soup plates had been removed and Tilda, red eyed and nervous, was serving the well-filled plates of roast and vegetables.

The dining room was crowded with "meatlers"—many of them the sensation-seekers who had filled to overflowing the inquest room at the morgue. These transients shuddered delightedly over their dining in actually coming to the "Murder Mansion" for a meal, exchanged theories in thrilled whispers, and quite openly studied the group of regular boarders with speculative eyes.

But upon that large table in the center of the room a blight had fallen. Mrs. Rhodes had considered rearranged the chairs and removed one so that the horror of gazing upon Cora Barker's empty chair was spared the remaining boarders. There was almost no conversation. On every face were the marks of strain and terror. As clearly as if it were spoken aloud a dread question made itself heard above the faint tinkle of silver and glass and china—"Who next?"

"Have you heard the news, Mr. Dundee?" Lawrence Sharp broke the heavy silence at last.

"No, I hope it's good news this time," Dundee answered quietly.

"Poor Cora's mother arrived from Quincy, Illinois, just before dinner," Mr. Sharp answered, pleased in spite of his depression at having news to impart. "She's having a tray in her room, poor old soul." Cora's room, that is, she asked to be permitted to stay there until her train leaves after midnight. Getting Cora's things together, I understand."

"But Dan Griffin did not wear

"Are the police permitting her to remove Cora's belongings?" Dundee asked innocently.

"I believe so. Mrs. Barker has just telephoned police headquarters and Lieutenant Strawn is coming over shortly to be here while she packs. But I understand that nothing has been found in the poor girl's room to aid the police in any way. It was the sad privilege of the wife and me to have a short talk with Mrs. Barker, and to tell her how much all of us had loved her daughter."

"I WISH I hadn't come back last night," Mrs. Sharp broke in tearfully. "I wish I'd stayed out the week with Larry. He wanted me to."

"I presume Mrs. Barker will take Cora home with her for—burial?" Dundee asked with a fleeting glance of sympathy for Bert Magnus, who was not eating, but whose eyes had not left his untouched food since Dundee had entered the room.

"On the one o'clock train," Mr. Sharp replied heavily. "Will you pass me the catsup, please, Mr. Dowd?" Not that I have the slightest appetite, but we must all try to keep up our strength—"

As Henry Dowd complied silently with the request, Dundee studied him covertly but keenly. With Lieutenant Strawn's meager description of the Dan Griffin of five years ago in mind, the young detective noted and catalogued every feature and characteristic of the man seated opposite him.

"I finally doped it out that Dan Griffin must have been so ordinary looking a young man that his face made no deep impression on anyone," Strawn had said. And that characterization could apply to be applied to Henry Dowd. If—before this moment—Dundee had been called upon to describe Henry Dowd for a police dossier, he would have been hard put to it to achieve even a fair degree of accuracy. For Dowd's was one of those faces you simply cannot recall vividly to mind.

"What color are his eyes anyway?" Dundee puzzled. "I would have sworn they were blue-gray and now, in this light, and behind those glasses of his, they look gray-green. Hair—thin, light brown mixed with gray. Forehead very high, but that may be because he's growing bald. Age?—Say 34 to 35, and I'd defy anyone to hit it closer than that. Griffin would be about 35, so that checks. A gold eye-tooth on the right side, but that dental job could have been done any time during the last five years as a tiny item toward creating a subtle disguise." But I'll bet Dundee's Lawrence Sharp broke the heavy silence at last.

"No, I hope it's good news this time," Dundee answered quietly.

"Poor Cora's mother arrived from Quincy, Illinois, just before dinner," Mr. Sharp answered, pleased in spite of his depression at having news to impart. "She's having a tray in her room, poor old soul." Cora's room, that is, she asked to be permitted to stay there until her train leaves after midnight. Getting Cora's things together, I understand."

"On the one o'clock train," Mr. Sharp replied heavily. "Will you pass me the catsup, please, Mr. Dowd?" Not that I have the slightest appetite, but we must all try to keep up our strength—"

As Henry Dowd complied silently with the request, Dundee studied him covertly but keenly. With Lieutenant Strawn's meager description of the Dan Griffin of five years ago in mind, the young detective noted and catalogued every feature and characteristic of the man seated opposite him.

"I finally doped it out that Dan Griffin must have been so ordinary looking a young man that his face made no deep impression on anyone," Strawn had said. And that characterization could apply to be applied to Henry Dowd. If—before this moment—Dundee had been called upon to describe Henry Dowd for a police dossier, he would have been hard put to it to achieve even a fair degree of accuracy. For Dowd's was one of those faces you simply cannot recall vividly to mind.

"What color are his eyes anyway?" Dundee puzzled. "I would have sworn they were blue-gray and now, in this light, and behind those glasses of his, they look gray-green. Hair—thin, light brown mixed with gray. Forehead very high, but that may be because he's growing bald. Age?—Say 34 to 35, and I'd defy anyone to hit it closer than that. Griffin would be about 35, so that checks. A gold eye-tooth on the right side, but that dental job could have been done any time during the last five years as a tiny item toward creating a subtle disguise." But I'll bet Dundee's Lawrence Sharp broke the heavy silence at last.

"No, I hope it's good news this time," Dundee answered quietly.

"Poor Cora's mother arrived from Quincy, Illinois, just before dinner," Mr. Sharp answered, pleased in spite of his depression at having news to impart. "She's having a tray in her room, poor old soul." Cora's room, that is, she asked to be permitted to stay there until her train leaves after midnight. Getting Cora's things together, I understand."

"But Dan Griffin did not wear

"Are the police permitting her to remove Cora's belongings?" Dundee asked innocently.

"I believe so. Mrs. Barker has just telephoned police headquarters and Lieutenant Strawn is coming over shortly to be here while she packs. But I understand that nothing has been found in the poor girl's room to aid the police in any way. It was the sad privilege of the wife and me to have a short talk with Mrs. Barker, and to tell her how much all of us had loved her daughter."

"I WISH I hadn't come back last night," Mrs. Sharp broke in tearfully. "I wish I'd stayed out the week with Larry. He wanted me to."

"I presume Mrs. Barker will take Cora home with her for—burial?" Dundee asked with a fleeting glance of sympathy for Bert Magnus, who was not eating, but whose eyes had not left his untouched food since Dundee had entered the room.

"On the one o'clock train," Mr. Sharp replied heavily. "Will you pass me the catsup, please, Mr. Dowd?" Not that I have the slightest appetite, but we must all try to keep up our strength—"

As Henry Dowd complied silently with the request, Dundee studied him covertly but keenly. With Lieutenant Strawn's meager description of the Dan Griffin of five years ago in mind, the young detective noted

REITERATES HER STORY

Mountain View, Ark., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Tiller Rummel, 16-year-old star witness against five men charged with murdering Connie Franklin, said positively today for the first time that the youth here claiming to be Franklin was not her former lover whom she says was mutilated and burned alive last March 9. Rueben Harrell, deaf mute, who has said he saw Franklin slain also said the youth was not Franklin. Both made their statements in the presence of Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson and other officials. The girl previously had said she was not positive about the identity. Following the positive statements of the two prosecutors Williamson said that "unless some unusual and unexpected developments occur in the meantime," the trial of the five men accused of murdering Franklin would open as scheduled next Monday.

DEMANDS ENFORCEMENT

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 12.—(UP)—Bitterly condemning present ineffective methods of prohibition enforcement as being responsible for America's great crime wave, the Ancient Order of Cleaners, in national convention here today demanded that the government "quit its camouflage" and enforce the dry law. Ross L. Holloway was re-elected national president of the order. Others elected included Mrs. Minnie Pratt, Watseka, Ill., chaplain.

PREHN ENGAGED

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The engagement of Alvyn Elizabeth Westfall of Janesville, Wis., to Paul Prahn, former Chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, was announced today. The marriage will take place at Urbana, Ill., December 31.

CONFESSIONS POISONING

West Plains, Mo., Dec. 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Laura Trimmer confessed here today that she and her son, Sylvester, poisoned E. E. Trimmer, 86, Mrs. Trimmer's father-in-law, because they were tired of caring for him. Mrs. Trimmer said she placed strychnine in the aged man's poached egg and that she and her son sat and watched Trimmer while he died. The confession said Trimmer had promised to leave his property to Mrs. Trimmer at his death.
